President's Message

Welcome to the 2005 America's Town Meeting sponsored by the National Association of Towns and Townships (NATaT) and the National Center for Small Communities (NCSC). This year's conference promises to be an exciting one for all local government officials.

The NATaT conference is packed full of great speakers, informative workshops and an excellent trade show. Optional events have been planned to allow visitors the opportunity to explore all the nation's capital has to offer. Time has been allotted on Thursday for attendees to travel to Capitol Hill to meet their respective members of Congress. For most officials, this is the only opportunity you have to meet with your federal lawmakers and I urge you to participate in these events.

I have the pleasure of being the President of NATaT and the Executive Director of the state association being honored as this year's featured state – Ohio. Nicknamed the “Buckeye State”, Ohio encompasses 41, 330 square miles and is ranked seventh among the fifty states in population. There have been eight presidents from Ohio, earning Ohio another nickname, “The Mother of Presidents.”

Ohio will be hosting a social event for all attendees on Thursday afternoon in the Exhibit Hall. We will be serving a variety of products made in Ohio that showcase the variety of foods Ohioans love to enjoy, including trail bologna and buckeyes. During the social you can visit with vendors and possibly win a variety of Ohio made products and gifts. Anyone registered for the conference, except NATaT board members and guests, is eligible to win. So be sure to come to the Ohio Social on Thursday afternoon for food, beer, and prizes.

The NATaT officers and board are glad that you are here! Enjoy yourselves and if there is anything that you think we could be doing better, please let us know. We are always looking to improve upon each conference. Have fun and thanks for coming!

Michael Cochran
President
National Association of Towns and Townships

Welcome

Dear Conference Attendees:

Welcome to the 2005 America's Town Meeting! I'm sure that you will find this year's conference one of the best ever. We have carried forward the programs members tell us they like and have even added a few new wrinkles.

As in past years, the conference is designed to provide members with political insight and educational opportunities. This year we have fourteen workshops on topics ranging from snow removal to Supreme Court decisions. There is something for every interest and we urge members to take advantage of the great workshop program we have put together.

Congress has already had a busy year but there are still a number of issues on the table that could affect towns and townships. These include telecommunications law reform, rural development and water infrastructure funding. We have again set aside Thursday morning for members to visit their Federal legislators. These visits are crucial to NATaT's effort to remain a major force on municipal issues in Washington.

This year, we will have a sizable contingent of exhibitors who are supporting our conference and who want to build relationships with NATaT members. Please take time to visit our exhibitors, browse their products and services and thank them for their support of towns and townships.

We have also added some new tours and special events this year that members will not want to miss. We hope that you take advantage of these new events and, as always, welcome suggestions for other events in the future.

Speaking of the future, we want to constantly improve America's Town Meeting. Please stop by the NATaT booth and give us your suggestions on how we might improve the conference in future years.

Welcome again and have a great conference!

Allen R. Frischkorn, Jr.
Executive Director
National Association of Towns and Townships

President George W. Bush

George W. Bush is the 43rd President of the United States. He was sworn into office on January 20, 2001, re-elected on November 2, 2004, and sworn in for a second term on January 20, 2005. Prior to his Presidency, President Bush served for 6 years as the 46th Governor of the State of Texas.

President Bush was born on July 6, 1946, in New Haven, Connecticut, and grew up in Midland and Houston, Texas. He received a bachelor's degree in history from Yale University in 1968, and then served as an F-102 fighter pilot in the Texas Air National Guard. President Bush received a Master of Business Administration from Harvard Business School in 1975.

President Bush is married to Laura Welch Bush, a former teacher and librarian, and they have twin daughters, Barbara and Jenna.

Honored Guest

Congressman James L. Oberstar

Born in Chisholm, Minnesota, Jim Oberstar graduated Summa Cum Laude from the College of St. Thomas in St. Paul in 1956, with a double major degree in French and Political Science. He went on to earn a Masters degree in European Studies at the College of Europe in Bruges, Belgium, 1957. Following graduation, he taught English to Haitian military personnel, and French and Creole to members of the U.S. Marine Corps military advisory group in Port-au-Prince, 1959-1963; then served as chief staff assistant to his predecessor, Congressman John Blatnik, 1963-1974.

Jim Oberstar began representing Minnesota's Eighth Congressional District in Congress in 1975, and is now in his 16th term, the longest service in the U.S. House of Representatives from the state of Minnesota.

He is now the senior Democrat on the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure. The committee has jurisdiction over America's surface transportation; freight and passenger rail; the inland waterway system, including the St. Lawrence Seaway; international maritime commerce; the Economic Development Administration; the U.S. Corps of Engineers' support of the nation's water resources; and the federal clean water program.

Charles Louis Kincannon

Director, U.S. Census Bureau

President George W. Bush nominated Mr. Kincannon for director of the Census Bureau in 2001 and the Senate confirmed him unanimously on March 13, 2002.

Mr. Kincannon began his career as a statistician at the U.S. Census Bureau in 1963 after graduating from the University of Texas at Austin. He held positions of increasing responsibility in the economic, demographic and administrative areas of the Census Bureau before leaving in September 1975, during the Ford administration, to join the staff of the Office of Management and Budget, where he worked on statistical and regulatory policy. He also served as the statistical liaison to Vice President Nelson Rockefeller's office and provided administrative leadership that supported the successful implementation of the first Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980.

Mr. Kincannon returned to the Census Bureau in September 1981. He was appointed deputy director and chief operating officer in January 1982 by President Ronald Reagan's first director of the Census Bureau, Bruce Chapman.

In October 1992, Mr. Kincannon was appointed as the first chief statistician in the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) in Paris. He coordinated the organization's statistical programs and advised the OECD secretary general on statistical policy. He left this post in June 2000 to return to the United States.

Mr. Kincannon was born December 1940 in Waco, Texas. Following graduation from the University of Texas, he did postgraduate study at the George Washington University, Georgetown University and the University of Maryland. He and his wife, Claire, have lived in Paeonian Springs, Va., since 1972.

Grassroots Government Leadership Award

The Grassroots Government Leadership Awards program is an old tradition with NATaT. We ask our state associations to submit nominations to us, of town and township officials who exemplify the best in leadership qualities. The winner and finalists will be presented with their awards at the Awards Luncheon on Thursday.

Workshops

Wednesday, September 7, 3:30 – 5:00 p.m.

HAVA/Election Assistance Commission

Presenters: Gavin Gilmour, Associate General Counsel and Peggy Sims, Research Specialist, Election Assistance Commission.

Room: Yorktown

The U.S. Election Assistance Commission, the federal entity which implements the Help America Vote Act (HAVA), will review and discuss: What HAVA requires States to do (Title III) and by what deadlines; What HAVA funds are available to meet these requirements and to make other improvements in the administration of Federal elections; What HAVA funds have already been distributed, to whom, and how much, and what remains to be distributed; What are the consequences of missing HAVA deadlines; What is the role of the U.S. Election Assistance Commission (EAC); What EAC has done or is in the process of doing to fulfill that role; and How towns and townships may provide their input.

Federal Affairs Update

Presenters: Allan Cagnoli, Director, Government Relations, NATaT; and Toby Burke, Special Assistant to the President, Office of Intergovernmental Affairs, The White House

Room: Ticonderoga

A review will be made of the legislative issues in the 109th Congress that have affected, or will affect NATaT's members. This session will specifically help prepare those members who intend to visit their elected federal officials during the conference and those interested in the latest issues that will impact local communities. Toby Burke will report on the President's agenda in the 109th Congress and how it impacts local governments.

Rural Roads

Presenters: Erin Kenley, Transportation Specialist, Federal Highway Administration, Debra M. (Dee) Williams Chappell, Highway Safety Engineer, FHWA

Room: Congressional A

The recently passed highway reauthorization bill contains money for federal road programs for the next six years. NATaT has supported increased rural road safety programs since rural roads are the location of a disproportionate share of serious accidents. Representatives from the Department of Transportation will review the status of rural road programs, reauthorization, and safety guidelines.

Wednesday, September 7, 3:30 – 5:00 p.m.

Benchmarking for Risk Management

Presenter: Mary Stewart, Director, Research and Development, Public Entity Risk Institute, PERI

Room: Concord

One of the ways to incorporate benchmarking elements into your management program is to compare your experience against best practices. This session will discuss some basic applications for benchmarking and provide examples of standards used by various departments, such as public safety, human resources, public works, and recreation. The second part of the workshop will provide an overview of PERI's Data Exchange Project, which was created to compare claim activity and loss information of all public entities throughout the nation. Sample Data Exchange reports will be used to explain how such comparisons can be used as a program evaluation tool.

Water & Wastewater

Presenters: Richard Phalunas, National Environmental Service Center, West Virginia University, William Hasselkus, Environmental Engineer, Environmental Protection Agency

Room: Valley Forge

American communities will have to spend billions of dollars over the next 20 years to upgrade our country's water infrastructure. Representatives from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the National Environmental Services Center will discuss the status of federal water/wastewater regulations and funding, with particular emphasis on decentralized wastewater management programs.

Thursday, September 8, 3:00 – 4:30 p.m.

Volunteer Fire Issues

Presenters: Heather Schafer, Executive Director and Craig Sharman, Director of Government Relations, National Volunteer Fire Council

Room: Capitol A

NATaT has partnered with the National Volunteer Fire Council in a Memorandum of Understanding to cooperate on issues of common concern. A discussion of these legislative and regulatory issues, including funding for first responders, will be the subject of this presentation.

Workshops

Thursday, September 8, 3:00 – 4:30 p.m.

Supreme Court and Local Governments

Presenters: Christopher Pashler, Attorney, International Municipal Lawyers Association

Room: Capitol B

This presentation will review a number of cases that were decided last term by the U. S. Supreme Court that will impact this nation's local governments, including the Kelo v. City of New London eminent domain case.

FCC/Telecommunications

Presenters: Gerry Lederer, Counsel, Miller & Van Eaton, Catherine Seidel, Acting Bureau Chief, Wireless Telecommunications Bureau, FCC

Room: Ticonderoga

Fast moving developments, including Supreme Court decisions, have overtaken the legal framework that Congress enacted in the mid-1990's to regulate the telecommunications industry. Congress is taking another look at this volatile area for possible legislative action. The FCC is also considering a number of proposals that could change the dynamics of the industry and have repercussions for local governments. A telecommunications law expert and senior staff member from the agency will analyze these developments and answer questions on likely law changes and their impact on towns and townships, with emphasis on local franchises and franchise fees.

Best Practices in Procurement Card Programs

Presenters: Jean Cawley Taplett, Director, Public Sector, Corporate Payment Solutions, MasterCard, and Tom Gustin, National Account Manager, Comdata (Helena, MT)

Room: Bunker Hill

Every municipal employee, as a steward of the Town's or Township's fiscal assets, has a responsibility to ensure that funds are spent wisely. A well-run procurement card program can help conserve administrative time and money, monitor and control spending, and provide a strong audit trail for all expenditures.

This session will provide lessons learned from over three decades of experience with card payment solutions in government agencies.

Surplus Federal Property

Presenter: Scott Pepperman, Division Chief, Pennsylvania Federal Surplus & Law Enforcement Property Division and Past President, National Association of State Agencies for Surplus Property

Room: Concord

This session will cover programs such as the Federal Surplus Property

Thursday, September 8, 3:00 – 4:30 p.m.

Program, the Fixed Price Sales Vehicle Program, the Law Enforcement Excess Property Program, the Law Enforcement Cooperative Purchasing Program and two new programs which will allow communities to participate in cooperative purchasing contracts from the Federal government for property designated for counter terrorism activities. These programs will offer you ways to stretch your budget dollars and recycle your Federal taxes.

Friday, September 9, 9:30 – 11:00 a.m.

Fighting Snow with Technology

Presenters: Ed Humphrey, Trustee and Walt Fischer, Service Director, Miami Township/Clermont County, OH

Room: Capitol B

This session covers seven technologies applied to fighting snow. This includes an explanation of each technology including: what they are, the benefits, and the costs. The technologies are: On Spot Chains; stainless steel and aluminum truck beds; road surface temperature sensors; ground speed controllers for salt and salt brine distribution; anti-icing road treatment with salt brine; pre-wetting salt as distributed; automatic vehicle locator (AVL).

2010 Census

Presenters: Edison Gore, Acting Chief, Decennial Management Division, David Hubble, Assistant Division Chief for ACS and Cheryl Chambers, Program Analyst, ACS, U.S. Census Bureau

Room: Valley Forge

Planning for the 2010 decennial census began even before Census 2000 ended. This presentation will describe the various planning, development, and testing activities that the Census Bureau will undertake in preparation for the 2010 census. This workshop will include information about the Census Bureau's plans for the 2006 National Census Test, the 2008 Dress Rehearsal, and its plans to improve the Census Bureau's master address file. A major enhancement to the 2010 decennial process is the implementation of the on-going American Community

Workshops

Friday, September 9, 9:30 – 11:00 a.m.

Survey. This discussion will focus on the survey's overall operations and status. Information also will be provided about the survey's sample design and the population and housing data that the ACS will provide for communities of all sizes throughout the decade.

EDA - Federal Economic Policy in the 21st Century

Presenter: James A. Yeager, Senior Policy Advisor, Economic Development Administration, US Department of Commerce

Room: Capitol A

The Economic Development Administration (EDA) at the Department of Commerce will provide a briefing on the recently released report of the Strengthening America's Communities Advisory Committee on its recommendations to the Secretary of Commerce for the successful implementation of the President's Strengthening America's Communities Initiative (SACI). The SACI is major Presidential proposal to bring federal policies and programs for economic and community development into the 21st century, better target resources to distressed communities, and to build performance metrics to ensure results.

Our products for local government include: Property Tax Suite – county equalization, delinquent tax, special assessment, tax administration and tax receipting; Dog Licensing – reports and forms, mailing labels, renewal letters, sales reports and vaccination reports; Fund Accounting Suite – accounts payable and receivable, cash receipts, payrolls and purchase orders; Voter Registration – designed for local jurisdictions, automated street index, electronic inbox processing and reporting, scan directly from poll lists, records maintenance, unlimited voter history and absentee voter processing.

Pontem Cemetery Management software enables private, municipal, and church cemeteries to record burial information and documents electronically, eliminating the risk of losing cemetery records. If you are still keeping your records on paper, Pontem is your solution to migrate to an electronic database. With the Data Manager and Imaging Module, you can scan your index cards or other documents into the database and virtually eliminate the need to type. Visit us in Booth #17 at ATM 2005!

For over 100 years, the U. S. Census Bureau has been the preeminent collector and provider of quality data about the people and economy of the United States. Our collections include information and services available in print, on CD/DVDs, and on our powerful website (www.census.gov) that includes the popular American FactFinder data access tool; the longstanding favorite, the Statistical Abstract; and links to all Census Bureau programs, products and other resources.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture Rural Development

Timothy McNeilly

1400 Independence Ave., SW, Rm. 4170

Washington, DC 20250

Booth #29

The Department of Agriculture was reorganized under the Federal Crop Insurance Reform and Department of Agriculture Reorganization Act. Under that Act, USDA Rural Development was created to administer the former FmHA's non-farm financial programs for rural housing, community facilities, water and waste disposal, and rural businesses. The former REA's utility programs were also consolidated within Rural Development.

Today, Rural Development is the venture capitalist for rural America, built on the legacy of these Depression-era agencies begun 70 years ago. We are helping to develop the technological infrastructure that will enable rural America to compete in the 21st century domestically and globally. We are committed to helping improve the economy and quality of life in rural America. Rural Development has an $86 billion dollar loan portfolio, and we will administer nearly $16 billion in program loans, loan guarantees, and grants through our programs.

U. S. Dept. of Health & Human Services Centers for Medicare & Medicaid (CMS)

Alexandria, VA 22314*

Booth #18

CMS is the federal agency, which administers the Medicare and Medicaid Program. Currently, Medicare, provides coverage to approximately 40 million Americans. Medicare is the national health insurance program for people age 65 or older; some people under age 65 with disabilities and people with End-Stage Renal Disease (ESRD), which is permanent kidney failure requiring dialysis or a kidney transplant.

Medicaid is a program that pays for medical assistance for certain individuals and families with low incomes and resources. This program became law in 1965 and is jointly funded by the Federal and State governments (including the District of Columbia and the Territories) to assist States in providing medical long-term care assistance to people who meet certain eligibility criteria.

U. S. Dept. of Homeland Security Ready Campaign

Sarah Shields

3801 Nebraska Ave., NW
Washington, DC 20528

Booth #16

Launched on February 19, 2003, the “Ready” Campaign is a national public service advertising campaign designed to educate and empower American citizens to prepare for and respond to potential terrorist attacks and other emergencies. The Ad Council declared it one of the most successful campaign launches in its 62-year history. The Department of Homeland Security has secured many strategic partnerships to help disseminate “Ready” campaign messages and materials. The “Ready” Campaign has generated $205 million in donated media support (radio, TV, print, etc.) to date and more than 113 million people saw or read about the “Ready” Campaign at it’s launch.

In the months following the campaign launch, there was a sharp spike in public awareness messages about “steps you can take to protect your family in the event of a terrorist attack.” Awareness levels peaked to approximately 70% in April-June 2003. Recent tracking survey results suggest that the Ready Campaign has made significant headway on the challenging issue of citizen preparedness. It is the goal of the Ready Campaign to increase preparedness awareness and education as well as changes in attitudes and behaviors of every citizen.

Please stop by Booth #16 to learn how you and your township can participate in DHS’ Ready Campaign.

U. S. Dept. of Homeland Security Transportation Security Administration (TSA)

Darrett Lomax

601 South 12th Street
Arlington, VA 22202

Booth #22

The Transportation Security Administration (TSA) was created in response to the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001 as part of the Aviation and Transportation Security Act signed into law by President George W. Bush on November 19, 2001. TSA was originally in the Department of Transportation but was moved to the Department of Homeland Security in March 2003.

TSA’s mission is to protect the nation’s transportation systems by ensuring the freedom of movement for people and commerce. In February 2002, TSA assumed responsibility for security at the nation’s airports and by the end of the year had deployed a federal work force to meet challenging Congressional deadlines for screening all passengers and baggage.

U. S. Dept. of Justice Office of Justice Programs (OJP)

Andrea Lange
National Criminal Justice Reference
Service
2277 Research Blvd., MS.2B
Rockville, MD 20850

Booth #32

Since 1984 the Office of Justice Programs has provided federal leadership in developing the nation's capacity to prevent and control crime, improve the criminal and juvenile justice systems, increase knowledge about crime and related issues, and assist crime victims.

Through the programs developed and funded by its bureaus and offices, OJP works to form partnerships among federal, state, and local government officials to control drug abuse and trafficking; reduce and prevent crime; rehabilitate neighborhoods; improve the administration of justice in America; meet the needs of crime victims; and address problems such as gang violence, prison crowding, juvenile crime, and white-collar crime.

Many of the program bureaus and offices, award formula grants to state agencies, which, in turn, sub-grant funds to units of state and local government. Formula grant programs in such areas as drug control and system improvement, juvenile justice, victim's compensation, and victim's assistance, are administered by state agencies designated by each state's governor. Discretionary grant funds are announced in the Federal Register or through program solicitations that can also be found through bureau and OJP Websites. Grant applications are made directly to the sponsoring OJP bureau or program office.

Zabel Environmental Technology is a product development and marketing company focused on dominating the onsite wastewater treatment market. Zabel Environmental Technology is a leading manufacturer in the onsite wastewater industry in terms of both influence and product diversification. We publish a high quality and informative magazine called The Zabel Zone three times annually. The Zabel Zone is a clearinghouse of information concerning the field of onsite wastewater and Zabel Products.

We also publish a Product catalog with over 200 various onsite components and systems. We have developed this extensive line of onsite products by combining both proprietary products designed and developed by Zabel and through the acquisition of patent rights from third parties. Our current product line has grown from the well known Zabel Filter Line into a complete single source of products for everything from the house to the receiving body.

Featured State

This year our featured state is Ohio. We salute Ohio's 1,308 townships and the more than 5,200 township officials. In Booth #9, the Ohio Township Association will highlight the valuable role of the state's township officials, showcase its service programs offered to members, and highlight state businesses and tourist attractions. Gift bags, given to all registered attendees, will feature products made in Ohio or by companies headquartered there. Ohio urges all attendees to please stop by and say "hello!"

To highlight their year as featured state, the Ohio Township Association will be sponsoring a number of exciting events including...

A Reception

Thursday afternoon in the exhibitor area, featuring Ohio-made or favorite products for your enjoyment.

Giveaways

An assortment of giveaways representing the State of Ohio will be given away Wednesday afternoon and during the Thursday afternoon reception. These prizes include weekend getaway packages to Ohio's major cities with tickets to sporting events and area attractions, two Huffy bicycles, an Amish-made rocking chair, a Lloyd Middleton doll and a number of other exciting prizes from the Buckeye State.

Note: Prizes will be announced and awarded in the exhibit hall Wednesday afternoon and during the reception on Thursday afternoon (attendees must be present to win). One major grand prize will be awarded at the Thursday Awards Luncheon and the winner will need to be present to win. Please note that other than the Grand Prizes, no giveaways will be shipped; and prizes must be picked up by 11 a.m. on Friday, September 9, or be forfeited. Please note that the following are ineligible for the grand or first prize drawings: NATaT/NCSC staff board members and their spouses/guests, and OTA staff.
