Boosting the Economy and Lowering Taxes

- Mark Ellmore has signed the Americans for Tax Reform pledge to fight for no new taxes
- Mark Ellmore is the limited government candidate who will fight for the principles of Ronald Reagan, including lowering taxes

As a father, Mark Ellmore understands that Congress burdens families and all Americans by increasing taxes. Mark pledges to cut spending and vote not to authorize new taxes once elected. This past year Congress has voted to increase your taxes by over $392 billion. He also pledges to cut frivolous programs out of the budget that have been recommended for removal by the Office of Management and Budget. By cutting the budget only 0.0025%, Americans would be saved almost $400 million.

Mark opposes reckless earmarks. He pledges to listen to the constituents at home. Jim Moran has voted to increase federal spending by over $2.73 trillion since January 2007.

Family Values

- Mark Ellmore has a 100% rating from the National Right to Life PAC.

“People are being taxed to death—people can’t afford the basics anymore. I believe in a policy that says we have got to stop federal spending... It’s literally gotten to the point that future generations will have nothing left.”

Mark is the proud father of two children; Richard and Amera. Richard is in the Air Force and Amera is a freshman at Marymount University in Arlington, Virginia.

As a father he has come to understand the importance of the family. He supports traditional marriage and voted for the Constitutional Amendment in 2006.

U.S. Military are a high priority. Just like Mark, there are hundreds of families across the 8th Congressional District with sons and daughters in the military.

Mark wants to bring the troops home from Iraq as soon as possible. He believes that the surge is working and that we should gradually reduce our levels of troops in Iraq.

Finishing the Job in Iraq

As the father of a son in the Air Force, issues pertaining to the Mark Ellmore also believes that Jim Moran is not doing enough to protect our troops from harm. Mark will never vote to deny troops the necessary tools they need to fight to protect us.

Immigration and Border Control

- Secure the border today by building a fence and adding more US Border Patrol Agents
- No Amnesty and impose harsher penalties on businesses that violate rules

Mark Ellmore says the first step to solving illegal immigration is to secure the borders. He supports using technology and more personnel along the borders to enforce the law.

Mark does not support an amnesty program and he supports everyone that adheres to the legal entry process. He will fight to impose harsher penalties on companies that employ illegal immigrants.

Health Care and Protecting Seniors

- Limit frivolous lawsuits that increase insurance costs
